Performance Summary

The Institutional Class returned 11.93% for the year ended October 31, 2024, while the Bloomberg U.S. Aggregate Bond Index returned 10.55% during the same period.

Top contributors to relative performance included:

- Security selection within corporate and securitized sectors driven by high-yield positions, as high-yield bonds generally outperformed their investment-grade counterparts over the period.
- Overweight to risk assets and underweight to U.S. Treasuries as corporate and securitized bonds broadly outperformed U.S. Treasury bonds.
- Security selection within Financials driven by bond selection within the Banking and Brokerage sub-sectors and security selections within Industrials driven by positions within the Consumer Cyclical, Energy, and Technology sub-sectors.
- Positions in bonds with unique structures, such as the Citi 3.875% perpetual bonds and the Energy Transfer 11/1/2066 floaters.
- Within securitized products, investments in non-traditional asset-backed securities, particularly whole business securitizations, out-of-index non-Agency Residential Mortgage-Backed Security and Small Business Administration securitizations.

Top detractors from relative performance included:

- Security selection within Commercial Mortgage-Backed Security (CMBS), mainly non-Agency CMBS, and underweight to Utility and Municipal Bonds.
- Cash positions and out-of-index positions in Collateralized Loan Obligations.

Keep in mind that the Fund's past performance shown is not a good predictor of how the Fund will perform in the future. The graph and table do not reflect the deduction of taxes that a shareholder would pay on Fund distributions or redemption of Fund shares.
